More Than Million Cured Of Cancer

Today there are more than 1,300,000 Americans alive cured of cancer, reports the American Cancer Society in its booklet, "1963 Cancer Facts and Figures."

The publication estimates: "There are now 1,300,000 Americans, alive today, who have been cured of cancer. "An additional 700,000 cancer patients diagnosed and treated within the last five years will live to enter the ranks of those we call cured. This means that there are actually 2,000,000 Americans cured of cancer, although 700,000 will not be formally counted as cured until they have completed the five years."

Several other significant changes are noted in the 1965 issue of "Cancer Facts and Figures."

Deaths from lung cancer have increase; it is now the leading cause of death from cancer. The Society estimates there will be 47,000 deaths from lung cancer in 1965. Seventy-five per cent of these could be avoided if people did not smoke cigarettes. It is estimated that 52,000 will develop lung cancer in 1965.

Third Forest Survey Underway

Plans are nearing completion for the start of a third Forest Survey of Virginia's timber resources, with preliminary work scheduled to begin in late November 1964. The Survey will be conducted by the Southeastern Forest Experiment Station with the cooperation of the Virginia Division of Forestry, and the National Forests of Virginia announced State Forester George W. Dean.

The first Forest Survey in Virginia was completed in 1940, and the second was finished in 1957. This forthcoming Survey of the State will require approximately two years for collection of the field data and will mark the completion of Forest Survey's third cycle through the five southeastern States — Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida.

Outstanding Young Farmer Honored By Jaycees

Earl Southall (above, center) was picked Thursday night as the area's Outstanding Young Farmer of 1964-65 by the Farmville Chapter of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. Southall, who operates a general farm in Prince Edward County, was among the four finalists in the contest sponsored jointly by the Farmville Jaycees and the Bottled Gas Company of Farmville. Other finalists were Johnny Asal, of Cumberland; Henry Anderson, of Prince Edward; and William Sanderson, of Cumberland. Pictured with Southall are Oscar Kennedy, (left) chairman of the Jaycee Young Farmer Committee, and Emerson C. Hamlett, Manager of the Farmville Bottled Gas Company.

Hairdresser And Cosmotologists Elect New Officers For 1964-65

The Suburban Affiliate of the Virginia State Hairdressers and Cosmetologist Association meeting was held at the Vanity Beauty Shop, Farmville, on Monday, Nov. 9.

Officers were elected as follows: Ida Southall, president; Gertrude Buchanan, first vice president; Frances Beer, second vice president; Lorene Baldwin, secretary; and Ruth Ferguson, treasurer and financial secretary.

Mrs. Lorene Cleary, of Lynchburg, Virginia Hair Fashion committee member, presented the latest trend in hair fashions from the "Flirtation Collection", which is a slim silhouette. It is elegant and rather understated for daytime wear, allowing hair and hat to be friends again, the official hair fashion committee member said.

For evening, the sides remain close, but dramatic new height is added to the top of the head or nape with hair pieces as gown or mood dictate. Permanents to give body, and a good haircut give this fashion lis classic elegance, Mrs. Cleary explained.

"Lee After War"

Miss Mary Nichols of the Longwood College English Department recently reviewed the new publication about Robert E. Lee.

In "Lee — After the War 1865-1870" by Marshall W. Fishwick, Miss Nichols stated that Fishwick wrote about the man, Robert E. Lee, not the General in gray, the feelings of Lee, the essence of the man and the man with people. The book deals with Lee, the man of painful adjustment, Lee as college president, of Lee and Virginia, a man who had not been granted amnesty in the military district of Virginia.

"The pivot of his life was not social, nor political nor military —but it was religious — and therein lay his greatness. Robert E. Lee was a humble man who went from retreat to resurgence from death to resurrection. His religious fervor was matched only by his religious tolerance.

"Gen. Lee died on Oct. 12, 1870— but for the days of Oct. 12 to Oct. 15, the students of his beloved college, now Washington and Lee, kept a vigil by his bier. He was laid to rest in a simple ceremony at the now famous Lee Chapel in Lexington."

Darkleaf

on something and coming up is a most important vote on keeping the farm allotment program going. Were I a grower, I would vote and I would vote in favor. When I came to Appomattox in 1931, dark tobacco averaged 4.7 cents per pound. Too much control often irks us, but by and large, controls have helped. Diversification of our farm effort has been a good thing as a need-ed replacement for a one-crop economy.

Reminder: why wait until a deep snow is on the ground to check your car chains!

In 1954 electric heating was a luxury only a few thought they could afford.

Today flameless electric heating is so economical everyone can enjoy it.

Electric heat is the only kind of heat where cost is going down. VEPCO's three major rate reductions since 1954 mean your per kilowatt hour cost is well below the national average. Flameless heat lasts the life of the house, makes house cleaning a breeze. It usually costs less to replace with space-saving electric heat, takes less time, makes less mess. You save $125 extra on a qualifying installation made by your nearby VEPCO-authorized Comfort Conditioning Contractor. Over 10,000 families in the VEPCO area are now enjoying the proven comfort and economy of flameless electric heat. Why don't you?
